KEM & CHLOE.

BY NINA MONTGOMERY.

THE war was over, yet in North and South its requiem had not ceased. Mr. Ashley sadly looked upon the spot where had stood his home; only charred ruins were there.

He turned toward a near cabin. Vines were trailing luxuriantly about its humble porch. Along the walk were borders royal in color. Hollyhocks, sunflowers and roses bent above pinks, phlox, ninnias and marigolds. The negro eye delights in gorgeous hues.

A crooning sound told him Chloe, the old nurse, was within. He knocked on the door. It was opened cautiously. A dark face with a white turban about it, appeared at the aperture. Its owner started back with a sudden ashiness over-spreading her features, an exclamation of terror on her lips.

"Have you no welcome for me, Chloe?" asked Mr. Ashley.

"Lor', Massa, hit ain't you, be hit?"

"All that is left of me, Chloe."

"I thought you was a sperrit. But come in, Massa, an' hev a chair," she added reassured by his voice and words. "Whar's my chillun?"

"Gone, Chloe. They were too young to endure the horrors of war."

"Missus' chillun dead—my chillun dead?" she cried, her face working with emotion.

"Yes, gone!" answered the man, with a numb, set look.

Wheels were heard coming slowly toward the house.

"An' missus is got ter know?"

"She knows already, Chloe."

"An' me not wid her?"

"God was there; he alone could help her."

Kem brought Mrs. Ashley to his humble door. After the heart-breaking meeting was over, husband and wife sat for hours, hand in hand, silently facing their future. Chloe tried to put her grief aside. She had fitted up her best room for her white folks.

"I'll get supper, so the niggers can come to see you. I tole 'em to keep 'way till arter dat. I've got some rale coffee an' white sugar for you. Kem's stomick us'er git mighty weak 'bout dat coffee, but his heart held out faithful. I tole him parched tater was good nuff fur him."

"Thank you both, Chloe."

Mrs. Ashley, remembering Kem's fondness for the berry, knew the meaning of the sacrifice.

Far away in the distance came faintly a low, sweet sound.

"Dey's comin' a singin'," said Chloe. "Knowned dey couldn't act like folks 'nough ter wait till my dishes was washed up!"

Nearer came the sound, rich, deep, mellow, swelling in triumphant welcome, dying away to almost a wail.

"De winter, de winter, de winter is a comin'," sang the voices without.

"The winter has already come to our hearts," said Mr. Ashley. "Let them in, Chloe."

She opened the door. One by one the dusky forms filed into the room, all in turn grasping Mr. and Mrs. Ashley by the hand, and ranging themselves around the walls, after a few quaint words of welcome.

Mr. Ashley responded by a few minutes talk. No one knew how hard it was for him to speak the words.

"We must soon leave you to join our daughter in California, but we shall never desert our old friends."

"Leabe Kem an' me," cried Chloe, in distress.

"Miss Grace wants us there. Her husband has made investments for us, and we can not endure to see the ruins of our old home."

The farewell was a sad one.

"De winter, de winter, de winter is a comin'," rose, fell, and died away like the moan of the wind sighing into silence.

Days linked themselves into months, yet the sadness of that parting did not leave Chloe's heart. It was ever hungering for the old days, the old folks at home, and her "white lambs." Often, in the silence of the night, she would rock herself back and forth as though she held a child upon her breast, crooning a lullaby.

"What ails you, Chloe?" asked Kem.

Chloe only shook her head. He brought her little dainties, trying to reawaken her interest in the preparation of them.

"Taint no use, Kem; hit's good in you, but I ain't got no heart to make de things I us'er make. De tears wouldn't let me see how, wid dose dat us'er praise 'em so fur away. Hit's straight west, mighty nigh on a bee line, hain't hit, Kem?"

"Mighty nigh, I s'pose," he replied.

"You got de ole carriage an' home dey give us, an' you mule?"

Chloe had planted the seed. Wise in wifely knowledge, she left it in quiet to make its own first growth. And it did. One day Kem asked:

"Do you s'pose we cud, Chloe?"

"Course, Kem, fur we hain't blin' ner deaf ner dumb."

So they began to save minutely. Finally, after several years of pinching, they began to sell off their things. It was hard to part with the possessions which had grown dear from long association, hard to part from old friends; but one day, with many a regretful look at the little home hallowed by so many tender memories, they turned their faces westward "to find Los Angel." Mr. and Mrs. Ashley had gone to Los Angeles.

An account of their months of adventure would fill a volume. They passed through the storms of the western prairie, where there was no shelter for man or beast; felt its intolerable heat, were even blinded by its sand storms.

"Did you eber know," asked Chloe "dat you cud go so fur an' neber see nobody but a lonesome owl a settin' on de groun' cos dar hain't no tree fur him ter set on?"

"Neber," said Kem, who loved the sight of human faces with all a negro's social soul.

They would sometimes come to a human habitation, generally half or wholly underground, where a negro was a rare curiosity to the children. Once they waded thro' a pond to find shelter in a house. There was little else in it but children, kittens and puppies. All night the two latter romped on Kem and Chloe on their pallet.

Afterward Kem said:

"I hope de Lord will forgive me, Chloe, but before pore white trash gib me niggers ebbery time, even yellor niggers."

"Me, too, Kem," she said feelingly.

Once they stopped at a town, if a lot of upright board houses could be so called, where their appearance caused interest and amusement.

"Looking for the lost angel?" said a young fellow, in whose heart not even the western drouth had quenched the merriment. "Wonder if it is his Satanic majesty! Seems as if he is near, with the thermometer 114 in the shade. I might think they were hunting for me if I had ever been an angel."

"Laws, honey, how you do talk!" said Chloe, looking at him with kindly rebuking eyes.

He was so like her own white children had been that the tears came. And for the sake of the old black mammy whose arms had once held him, he gave them a substantial gift that helped them on their way.

There were mountain heights to be crossed, so grand, so beautiful that heaven seemed leaning down to press their snowy curls with cloud soft caresses. Then other seemingly illimitable prairies, whose boundlessness was typical of eternity. Then sunshine, fruit and flowers, and Los Angeles.

One day Mr. and Mrs. Ashley were standing on their front veranda when a dilapidated vehicle came in sight.

"That looks like our old carriage," said Mrs. Ashley.

"Nonsense, dear! How could it be possible?"

But nearer it came, still nearer, and halted at their gate. It was Kem and Chloe.

Tears and laughter were strangely intermingled in that greeting. Chloe held Mrs. Ashley in her arms, and Mrs. Ashley's tears were on Chloe's black cheeks, while the men clasped hands, each glad to know there are friends who can be faithful unto death.

If you should ever wander to Los Angeles you may chance to find the characters of this little story, known by other names, yet with hearts unchanged.

Like a Drowning Man.

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold on me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble.

Weak?

"I suffered terribly and was extremely weak for 12 years. The doctors said my blood was all turning to water. At last I tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was soon feeling all right again."

Mrs. J. W. Fiala, Hadlyme, Ct.

No matter how long you have been ill, nor how poorly you may be today, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine you can take for purifying and enriching the blood.

Don't doubt it, put your whole trust in it, throw away everything else.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He knows about this grand old family medicine. Follow his advice and we will be satisfied.

Half Tobacco Crop Expected.

Tobacco growers of Boone, Gallatin and Carroll counties held a meeting at Burlington in regard to the amount that will be set the coming season. According to the best information gained by these gentlemen, not more than one-half of the growers in these three counties have plants enough to set their own crops. This, they say, will cause about one-half of the usual crop to be pitched.

Don't Start Wrong.

Don't start the summer with a lingering cough or cold. We all know what a "summer cold" is; it's the hardest to cure. Often it "hangs on" through the entire season; take it in hand right now. A few doses of One Minute Cough Cure will set you right. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts at once; children like it. "One Minute Cough Cure is the best cough medicine I ever used," says J. H. Bowles, Groveton, N.H. "I never found anything else that acted so safely and quickly."

Convict is Pardoned.

Governor Beckham has granted a pardon to W. M. Garrison of Madison county, who was serving a sentence of two years in the state penitentiary on conviction in Leslie county of manslaughter. Garrison killed Larkin Jones to save the life of his (Garrison's) father.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences; even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yankeetown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases; piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits.

A Committee Appointed.

Owensboro Knights Templar will make a strong effort to get the next meeting of the Grand Commandery of the state to convene there. At a meeting of the local commandery Lee D. Ray, James Keeley, W. P. Howard and others were appointed a committee to go to the state meeting at Versailles.

Henry Pieratt bought all the picture frames the agent of the Chicago Portrait Co. had left over and is selling them 50 per cent cheaper than the agent sold them. The number is limited, and if you want one you'd better move in a hurry, as they are going like hot cakes.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

County Conventions at County Seats on July 19th, 1902. District Convention, at West Liberty, Ky., July 24th, 1902.

HOPKINS.—HON. F. A. HOPKINS, of Floyd county, is hereby announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth district, subject to action of the democratic party.

DAVIS.—JUDGE AMOS DAVIS, of Morgan county, is herewith announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth district, subject to action of the democratic party.

SINCE we first advocated the introduction of Angora goats into the mountains as an easy means of clearing our brush lands and for the mohair they produce annually, to say nothing of their meat as a food, we have frequently been asked where they could be bought. In turn we inquired of the animal department of the agricultural bureau at Washington, and obtained the list of dealers appended, which we publish for the benefit of all who contemplate purchasing: C. P. Bailey & Son, San Jose, Cal. Henry Fink, Leon Springs, Tex. H. C. Fuchs, Tiger Mills, Tex. W. G. Hughes & Co., Hastings, Tex. Harris & Baylor, Montell, Tex. Horace A. Field, Wellsboro, Pa. Wm. L. Black, Ft. McKavett, Tex. U. S. Grant, Dallas, Oregon. Ed W. Cole & Co., Kenton, Ohio. The bureau has issued bulletins giving a full history of this most valuable animal, including what they have done by way of clearing brush land. In this connection three photographs are produced, showing a piece of brush land that was cleared by them. The first was before the goats entered, the second shows same land after goating a year, just the dead saplings standing, and in the third, at end of two year's goating, only large trees and a beautiful pasture are seen. Their work is truly wonderful and it is positively asserted that they prefer brush, leaves, etc., to grass. Clear your new land with Angora goats and restore your old with cow peas and an era of prosperity will dawn upon this country that will be truly phenomenal.

DR. LYMAN BEECHER TODD, who died at Lexington last week, was one of the best read physicians in Kentucky and one among the oldest practitioners. He was physician to the mother of the editor and also physician to the family of the late Frederick Bush, our venerable and venerated father-in-law, who was the first patient he had after he began practice. He continued to attend him and his family up to his death a year ago in March, and acted as a pall bearer at his funeral. Dr. Todd was one of the politest men we ever saw, and he was always the same genial, comforting soul in or out the sick room. He was a first cousin to Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, and during our martyred president's administration was postmaster at Lexington. When Mr. Lincoln was assassinated he was in Washington, and hearing of the dread affair repaired to the wounded man's side, where he remained to the end. All in all his life was such that his friends are assured that he now enjoys his heavenly inheritance, and we therefore say requiescat in pace.

THE death of W. N. Haldeman of the Courier-Journal brought sadness to every newspaper man in Kentucky, as he was the Nestor of the fraternity in this field. He was the founder of the Courier, whose fortunes he followed during the civil war, publishing it in the confederate lines. After peace came he formed a coalition with Henry Watterson, who had succeeded the immortal Prentice in the ownership of the Journal. Thus the two papers became Siamese twins, as it were, the hyphen being to these journals what the ligament of flesh was to the Chinese giants. And the comparison seems appropriate for the reason that these hyphenated papers, Courier-Journal, was a giant among democratic organs. Throughout the world it was a recognized power, and its strength was largely due to the indomitable will and indefatigable work of Mr. Haldeman. His life was a busy one, and the best encomium we can write him is to say that his example is worthy of emulation, and that those who pursue a similar pathway will enjoy pleasure and profit and in the end wear a crown.

CONGRESSMAN ROBERTS of Massachusetts has secured a sufficient number of republican signatures to demand a caucus of the house republicans on tariff revision, and he has the bosses on the anxious bench.

THE only abuse of the army that democratic senators have been guilty of was in demanding that the light be thrown upon military brutality in the Philippines—a demand that is backed by the people.

If the blind chaplain of the senate wants to be up to date he should add to his opening prayer: Give us this day our daily apology.

There is nothing so exhilarating to a person of weak constitution as malt liquor, especially at this time of year, and any of our people who may need beer for medicinal use or as a table beverage should patronize the Lexington brewery, which is advertised in our paper. Dyspepsia and kindred complaints disappear when Lexington beer is used. Try it, and you will never regret it.

HOUSEWORK
Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI
Is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cured Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:
Glendora, Ky., Feb. 10, 1901.
I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and washed last week and was not too tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting healthier than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat hearty. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I don't think of lying down through the day.
Mrs. RICHARD JONES.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited. How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility. How are they expelled? By Hood's Sarsaparilla which also builds up the system that has suffered from them. It is the best medicine for all humors.

Ben Sewell—The Campton Dreamer.

BY SAM WILSON.

After reading the town of Hazel Green, Ben Sewell fell into a dream; Though it may be against his will, Yet I am wired, he's dreaming still. He travels a bit, so I am told, On the sorriest nag you'll ever behold, And longed to see our fairy scenes; He came, but O, 'Twas in dreams. At the river bank he did stop short To give his poor old nag a snort, And viewed the waves just gliding by So calmly 'neath the azure sky. He gazed into this gentle stream And declares by gun, no fish was seen; The reason why, I simply trace, The fish swim off—they saw his face. Ah! Ben, dear Ben, and do not know The time when I was Hazel's beau, When her fair image adorned my mind In living colors, well defined. He further talks, but dreaming still Of some fair widow my heart to fill; But Ben, dear Ben, bear this in mind—Widows here are not the courting kind. In dreaming, Ben made this remark: "That Campton's to have a rattling park" Where bullfrogs, you will chant each night And fill one's ears with pure delight. To Pieratt's stable then he went On dreaming harder he was bent, And there he saw a horse quite dead—Collapsed from being over fed. The nag had just arrived that day, Carrying a dreamer from Campton gay, Where feed is scarce, and lawyers thick; One, good square meal just did the trick. Perhaps some time when dreams play out, No longer will Ben Sewell doubt; And when he is himself again, I know he'll sing this joyful strain. "Yes, Sam is right, Hazel Green's on top, She's going ahead and cannot stop; 'Tis useless, I have tried in vain And never will I dream again."

Tired Mothers.

It's hard work to take care of children and to cook, sweep, wash, sew and mend besides. Tired mothers should take Hood's Sarsaparilla—it refreshes the blood, improves the appetite, assures restful sleep.

Work of the Storm.

About 30 feet of the third story of the north wall of the academy—ten feet in height—was blown down by the storm on Tuesday evening, when six window frames went down in the crash, two or three joists were broken and many of the brick converted into bats. "Our man about town" asked Mr. Howard the probable damage, and was told that $150 would cover it. Three or four days' time will be required to repair the breach, however, but such a delay is so slight that it will cut no ice in its early completion.

Pleasantly Situated.

The many friends here of Hon. D. S. Godsey and his most estimable wife will rejoice to hear that they are very pleasantly located at Mt. Repose, Ohio, where Mr. Godsey owns a farm of 181 acres, surrounded on three sides by a pike. Hon. W. O. Mize was their guest for a week or so, and he gives this information. He also says they are in good health and Jim Brown is still with them. But "our man about town" forgot to ask if Jim still has "Bogus."

What Thin Folks Need

Is a greater power of digesting and assimilating food. For them Dr. King's New Life Pills works wonders. They tone and regulate the digestive organs, gently expel all poisons from the system, enrich the blood, improve appetite, make healthy flesh. Only 25 cents at J. T. Day, Hazel Green, or S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton, drug-gists.

Wood Garrett of Devils creek was in town Saturday, to see his friends, and especially his best girl. He had an enjoyable time, it is presumed, as he did not start for home until about midnight.

Bitten by a Copperhead.

While clearing up a piece of land on the Johnny Kash farm below town on Tuesday morning Arbury Brooks was bitten on the middle finger of the right hand by a copperhead snake. He came in to town just afterward, when Drs. Nickell, Taulbee and Center were at Pieratt's store. After examining the wound soda was applied, and Arbury went home and to bed. He said the wound did not pain him in the least, but complained that the muscles in his arm hurt him. There was no whiskey to be had in town at the time, and the injured man was left to the saving qualities of the soda. As the snake which bit him was quite a large one he would, perhaps, have been like a man at Torront who was recently bitten by a copperhead, had there been whiskey around. When he sent for some whiskey, the boy was ordered to get a quart. After he started the bitten man ran to the door and bailed him saying: "Bring a half-gallon; the snake that bit was a d— great big one."

Preaching Polygamy.

Two Mormon elders held a meeting at the residence of Burnie Finch on Sunday night and there was quite a crowd in attendance. The same two elders have been preaching at divers places on Lacy creek for a week or ten days, but so far no converts to the faith have showed up. Some say there is an undercurrent of polygamy in the doctrine they promulgate. Indeed they claim they can prove by the bible that it is legitimate, but inasmuch as the law of the land is against it they dare not preach it publicly.

Holds Up a Congressman.

"At the end of the campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-around medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter."

Overworked, run-down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed and for sale by J. T. Day, Hazel Green, or S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton.

Charley Cecil received two jumbo cigars from his brother Robert Cecil at Portland, Oregon, one day last week, and he and John M. Rose thought themselves millionaires while smoking them.

Since he embarked in agriculture John Pieratt has become one of the most intense farmers in this locality. He thinks he will be able to produce 1354 bushels of corn to the acre this year, but 150 is his ambition, and he will not be satisfied till he attains that.

Our correspondents are derelict in duty and we want to say that henceforth they will not receive papers except for the week they have news letters. We are dependent upon them for the news and when they fail to send in their favors they put us to great inconvenience.

Mrs. D. B. May gave her many lady friends a wool picking on Wednesday last, and it is needless for us to say they had an enjoyable time for the day seemed all too short for them to spend opinions and give experiences. Nevertheless Mrs. May got her wool ready for factory use. May 20. UNO.

Mrs. Lacy, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Oney, all of this side, together with a number of other ladies helped to eat a "bouncing" dinner at the home of Boon May near Daysboro last Wednesday. It being an old-fashioned "wool-picking," but the dinner was up to date, and that of the finest quality.

Miss Corda Brenneman of the Heights took dinner with ye scribe Sunday. In the afternoon we visited the Swango Springs, and from there in company with Henry Cecil, we drove to the pleasant home of J. W. Taulbee of Daysboro; after a pleasant chat we returned much benefitted by our evening exercise.

VOLUME I.—NUMBER 1.

EDITORIAL EFFUSIONS.

If the democratic evangelists succeed in accomplishing a split between President Roosevelt and Senator Hanna, the republican party would be thunderstruck as though "hell had broke loose in Georgia," sure enough. Happily the two champions are united, and it seems no power on earth can scrape off the plaster that so sweetly and closely unites and sticks them together.

An enlightened public sentiment is a powerful agency for good; but an aroused ignorant public sentiment is a weapon of great danger. And it would seem that the supreme need for all times is brains and as little ignorance as possible.

If the democratic party is really in earnest about making the next campaign on an "old-fashioned democratic platform" the logic of the situation certainly points to Pitckfork Senator Tillman as an ideal candidate for the presidency.

HENRY WATERSON is now forcibly reminded that President Roosevelt is about to develop into "Trust Buster" as well as a "Broncho Buster," and that he is "brilliant and bumptious" indeed.

THE two rough-and-ready senators from South Carolina should enter the pugilistic world, where their services would surely be appreciated by a prize-fight loving people.

"HIGH PRICES" may not always be an unfailing sign of prosperous times, but it is certainly an evidence that we are not in the deepest throes of financial depression.

JUST now the democratic party is making "goo-goo eyes" at the "Beef Trust," which is looming up as a probable issue in the next National campaign.

MORE work and less grumbling would surely drive the wolf away from the door of many a poor man's home. Try it.

LOCAL LACONICS.

The indications are for a light fruit crop in this section.

At this writing Jailor Little only has eight prisoners in his custody.

Attorney A. H. Stamper attended the circuit court at Salyersville last week.

Ex-Squire Jas. Burton of Breathitt was here last week trading with our merchants.

Lawyer W. W. Vaughn of Jackson is seeing landholders and securing some oil leases.

Geo. W. Halsey last week sold Capt. W. L. Hurst a horse, 8 years old and 16 hands high, for $100.

J. T. Gevedon, representing the D. H. Baldwin Piano Co., was in our town last week on business.

Services were conducted at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday last by Rev. J. M. Tolson and others.

Prof. G. W. P. Gibson lectured here last Thursday evening to a fair sized audience, his subject being "Saul of Tarsus."

Capt. W. L. Hurst and his son Hannibal went to Frozen creek last week to look over their immense domain of land.

John T. Alexander, one of our best farmers, on last week got one of his feet cut, and as a consequence he is on the limps.

Our efficient county clerk has promised to keep the Campton Editor posted weekly as to marriage license and other important matters.

There were eleven applicants for certificates to teach school in the examination held here last Friday and Saturday by Superintendent Taulbee and his examiners.

It will be the constant effort of the editor to make the Campton department one of the newest and brightest features of THE HERALD. If you want to subscribe for THE HERALD, or have some advertising done, you can make your wants known to the editor of The Campton Department.

Rev. H. I. Webster, the clock repairer, who succeeded in capturing in wedlock Louisa Hackney of this place sometime in the early part of last winter, a couple months ago disappeared and has not been heard of since. It is reported that at the time they were married, she had about $150 in money which he scooped in. Webster will be remembered as the "Whistling preacher," a sobriquet he gained in his rounds while preaching in this county. His wife feels like one forsaken.

Last week Miss Susan Napier appeared before County Clerk Silas Tutt and swore out a warrant against Elijah Whisman, charging him with bastardy. The warrant alleges that Whisman is the father of two children—age 2 years and one month respectively—of which Napier is the mother. Miss Napier is 24 years years of age, and is the mother of three bastard children, so she informed our worthy County Judge J. W. Congleton.

It is reported that A. Drake, who lives three miles from here on the Torront road, discovered oil on his farm oozing out of the ground. This is a very convincing evidence that the oil is here, and the indications are that it abounds in paying quantities. It is but a matter of short time when this section will prove to be the Garden of the Earth so far as wealth is concerned.

Sam Firestein contemplates going to the city soon to lay in a fresh supply of goods, and, best of all, he rather promises to give the "Campton Department of THE HERALD" an ad. when he returns. It certainly pays to advertise; no one is going to come from a distance to trade with our merchants unless he knows in advance what they have and the prices.

Sheriff T. F. Stamper and his deputy, Shiloh Swango, went to Lee City last week, where they arrested Mat Sloan and a Mr. Dyer on some bench warrants and brought to this place. Sloan has ten cases against him for the illegal sale of whiskey, and Mr. Dyer only six. Sloan gave bond and was released. Dyer was lodged in jail in default of bond.

Uncle Commodore Roberts, who had the sad misfortune to lose his wife by death some weeks ago, is very ill and not expected long to live. He is an all-round good citizen and enthusiastic republican, and has a large circle of relatives and friends.

Each week A. T. Combs, known as the "one-gallused boy," devours the contents of THE HERALD with as much relish as he would a well-fried young chicken. He is referred to the Campton Department for both sugar and pepper.

Marriage license was issued last week for John Clems to Lizzie F. Baker. The groom is a citizen of Breathitt county. The bride is the handsome daughter of Magistrate Wm. Baker of Lane, this county.

Willie H. Drake, one of our erstwhile splendid mail carriers from here to Torront, has gone to Lexington, presumably to enlist in the army where he may do more valiant service for Uncle Sam.

Up to date forty-six oil leases have been recorded in the county clerk's office. Clerk Tutt has breeze that about 200 more will soon be lodged in his office for record, and he wears a Carnegie smile.

Dentist W. G. Lockhart, J. C. Hurst and Isaac W. Combs went to the Kentucky river last Saturday to angle the finny tribe. The fish market in Campton is not glutted as a result.

Z. T. Hurst of Boxer, Breathitt county, was here last week and gave a "street-parade," lecture of his views on tram-road and canal coal business, in which he is interested.

Circuit Clerk J. F. Vansant on last week got on his saddle mule and sailed for Sandy Hook, Elliott county, to see his sister, who will soon move to Virginia.

When you have head ache or neuralgia, try Triphene. Sold by S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton, and H. F. Pieratt, Hazel Green. tf

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

READ THE TESTIMONY OF TWO WELL KNOWN CITIZENS OF WOLFE.

Mr. Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky.:
I purchased some of the Vitae-Ore of you in the latter part of March, and after taking about a half-pint of the Vitae-Ore Elizer my nerves were as steady as when I was 16 years of age, and I am now past 75. For more than a year I had been trying all the patent medicines and nostrums I could hear of to build myself up, but nothing did me any good until I used Vitae-Ore, which my wife brought me from your house. After using it a week I went out and did three days' as hard work as I have done in 25 years, and I was not more fatigued than I was 25 years ago over the same work. It is the grandest medicine in the world, and I want everybody in the mountains to know what it did for me so they may try it. Hoping every one who has that tired feeling incident to old age will buy Vitae-Ore of you and give it a fair trial. I remain, thankfully yours for putting me on to this remedy.
JAMES LACY.

I can vouch for every word Mr. Lacy says in the above. I am his wife and bought the medicine of Mr. Cooper for him, though I did not have much faith in it, because we had tried so many things that did no good. I have also used Vitae-Ore, and am stronger and in better health than for years, which I attribute to its use.
(MRS.) SOUTHEY LACY.
